Template groups

Updated: Feb 27, 2026

This document describes how to create, manage, and measure template groups.

Template groups allow you to associate a set of templates so it's easier to track their performance as a set when querying template metrics.

Limitations

a template can only be a part of a single template group at a timetemplate group names must be unique removing a template from a template group does not remove any template metrics it may have contributed to the group

Template group analytics

See the Template group analytics document.
